

Flame

The word "Flame" is written in a black, elegant cursive script. The letter "F" is particularly large and features a prominent, sweeping flourish that extends upwards and to the left. The word is partially overlaid by a detailed red line-art illustration of a rose. The rose is positioned to the right of the "F" and behind the letters "l", "a", and "m". It has several layers of petals and a few leaves, all rendered in a vibrant red color. The word "e" is the final letter and is smaller than the others.